4. Mostly because it was interesting and informative. The experiments were fun and enjoyable as well.

Is there anything you've ever wondered about regarding vision perception?
I've wondered about the connection between our brains and our eyes. I wanted to know if a person can trick their minds at will into seeing the world a certain way.

What was one thing you really enjoyed about the presentations and why?
I really enjoyed the color blindness experiment because it was cool seeing the world in a different way than normal.

Did you have a favorite demo (color blind, faces, depth, color, motion)?
The color blind one…

What is one question that you still have about vision?
Can a person trick their minds at will into seeing the world a certain way?
